

ABSTRACT

A trimmer starter has a cutting-head engaging structure in mechanical communication with an electric motor. Operation of the electric motor causes the cutting-head engaging structure to rotate on its axis, which may drive a cutting head of a trimmer when engaged thereto, thereby forcing the gasoline engine in the trimmer to turn over and eventually start.